SUBJECT: DAV website redesign

I am happy to share that DAV has redesigned our website, DAV.org, with the new version on track to be launched on Dec. 14, 2022.

Our goal with the refreshed website is to make it easier to use, with clear language for internal and external DAV audiences.

You will notice that while the site pages look different, the information that was previously on the website is still accessible. The enhanced design is engineered to make finding resources more intuitive and effortless. Please check out this video, which highlights the new designs and features of our website.

Please note that our website address is unchanged and will remain dav.org.

We are confident our website refresh will provide better service to you and the public at large in the years to come. I encourage you to spend some time getting familiar with the update.

With sincere appreciation,

J. Marc Burgess
National Adjutant
